Sylvia's Report

Sylvia Fisher Jutila

Fellow Classmates,

We made it through the month of September without losing one of our Classmates, however, it is with regrets and sorrow that I announce the death of Dallin Willard Jensen, spouse of our Classmate Barbara Penny Jensen.

Dallin Willard Jensen - June 2, 1932 ~ Sept. 10, 2017

There is no way to do justice to the fine man that Dallin was, but everyone who knew him personally or professionally recognized his remarkable and impressive character. His contribution to water law has had significant and lasting impact to everyone in the state of

Utah. Dallin was born in Star Valley, WY, the youngest of six children in a rural home before indoor plumbing and electricity. He learned the value of hard work on the farm, but the prospect of milking cows every morning encouraged him to attend college instead. In short order, he obtained a Geology degree, served two years in the military, married a marvelous woman, Barbara Penny Jensen, who considers herself fortunate, and completed a law degree at the University of Utah with an interest in Water Law. As Assistant Attorney General, Dallin was assigned to the State Engineer's Office to administer water rights, where he developed an expertise in natural resources. In 1971, he argued brilliantly before the United States Supreme Court for the first time, and won the suit for title to the Great Salt Lake and all its valuable minerals (for which the Federal Government had claimed ownership); if it were not for his persuasive arguments, the Great Salt Lake would not belong to the state of Utah! In 1987, he also persuaded the U.S. Supreme Court that Utah owns title to Utah Lake. Between these rulings, he and Dick Dewsnup compiled and published the most significant national evaluation of water resources law and policy of the time, "A Summary-Digest of State Water Laws", a reference that is still used by law schools today. On behalf of the state, Dallin fought victoriously for Utah's rights to its oil, gas, minerals, and water, for water quality standards, and to secure the water allocation needed for everyone in Utah. He served as Utah Solicitor General from 1983 to 1988, and retired having served a total of 28 years under four governors. Dallin then joined the law firm of Parsons Behle & Latimer as counsel and shareholder, and practiced in their Environmental, Energy and Natural Resources department. Among his clients were Kennecott Utah Copper and Barrick Gold Corporation, and he served on many important water-related commissions, including the Board of the Central Utah Water Conservancy District and the Upper Colorado River Commission. Dallin negotiated complex multi-party water transfers and participated in interstate compact negotiations, involving federal and Indian water right claims, public interest groups and environmental organizations. He was also an active member of Utah's Constitutional Revision Commission for 12 years. By the time he retired, he had been recognized in "Best Lawyers in America" in the area of Environmental, Natural Resources, and Water Law for 27 years, as well as being named Salt Lake City's Lawyer of the Year in Energy Law and Natural Resources. While achieving these professional goals, Dallin was a natural mentor and trusted advisor for his fellow attorneys, helping many to advance in their careers and receive promotions. His sense of humor and salty language delighted those who were accustomed to the measured approach and calm reason he brought to his job; all remember him fondly. At home, he was a privately devoted family man, treasured by his wife Barbara Penny Jensen, his daughter Julie, son Brad, daughter-in-law Laura, and granddaughters Alexandra and Elizabeth. His extended family benefited from his practical knowledge and skilled helping hands, his simple words of guidance at exactly the right moment, his humorous comments that brought levity, and his ability to make each person feel welcome and valued in his presence. Dallin died surrounded by family, and he was gracious and charming to the end, an exemplary man.

A Graveside Service for the family was held on Friday, September 22, 2017 at Salt Lake City Cemetery. Condolences may be offered to the family at www.starksfuneral.com where a tribute video slideshow may be viewed. The family is deeply grateful for the exceptional care provided by the Huntsman Cancer Institute's doctors and staff.

On a more positive note, I'm excited to tell you about the wonderful time had at our 61st Reunion Buffet Luncheon. We had over 95 classmates and significant others participate in the event. The Courtyard Marriott in Layton did an outstanding job hosting and feeding us. They know that older people are slow eaters, but were a little shocked at how much we eat. During the luncheon we recognized three of our Classmates for their accomplishments and achievements in life.

Ken Mano for briefing us on the article, "Anywhere But Prison" written by his brother Ron Mano. The article tells the story of how their Japanese-American family relocated from a nice modern home in Las Angeles to a chicken coop in Layton, UT to avoid being interned in camps such as the Topaz War Relocation Center in Delta, UT. Then how they moved to West Bountiful where the family rented and farmed a 10-acre parcel of ground with an old house on it.

Seventy years after Executive Order 9066 uprooted all Japanese-Americans from their homes on the West Coast, the "Topaz Japanese American Internment Camp Museum" in Delta, UT has opened its doors. The public is invited to witness traces of the trials endured by those who lived in the Topaz War Relocation Center. It is located at 55 West Main Street in Delta, UT. For information, call the museum at 435-864-2514.

Garry Glissmeyer for his lifetime accomplishments and achievements as an artist and artist instructor. After college, Garry settled in at Hallmark Cards for many years. In 1981 he was charged with getting Hallmark into Saturday Morning TV programs with characters aimed at young girls,

BIG thanks with Class of 1956 hugs and love to our 97 year old special guest, Audrey Burke Carr, Mother of our Classmate Valerie Burke Hendrickson. This is two years in a row that Audrey has honored us by participating in our class reunion. We look forward to her joining us many more times. Audrey was happy to visit with two of our classmates that she remembers from Valerie's childhood/school years, Carla Chapman and Lee Nebeker. Thank you Valerie for sharing that "wonderful Mother of mine" with us, mark your calendar for next year.

Speaking of next year, it is time for all of you to mark your 2018 calendar for our 62nd Class Reunion Annual Buffet Luncheon----post a reminder on your fridge door or bulletin board. We will meet on Friday, September 14, 2018 at the Courtyard Marriott in Layton, UT. Assemble at 12:00 noon, eat lunch/visit 1:00PM - 3:00PM then visit and collect hugs until 5:00PM. Passing the microphone amongst the classmates (open MIC time) brought back a lot of good memories----a definite must for next years program. Be sure to read the special attachment to this newsletter, "Anywhere But Prison." How fortunate for the Class of 1956 that Ken Mano's parents settled in West Bountiful and allowed us to grow up with Ken---dynamic and gifted individual---thanks Ken and Carolyn.

Caroleen Slotboom Williams for her lifetime accomplishments and achievements on the International, National and Local Government stage. Her outstanding performance resulted in her traveling all over the World. For more details on her exciting life, go to page 7. Just four days after our luncheon Caroleen was honored by the University of Utah on September 19, 2017. The citation used by the University of Utah is published on page 7. The Class of 1956 is so proud of Caroleen and her Life After DHS, it would make an exciting and rewarding book. No, she has not retired, she still remains actively involved on the International and Local Government level. She currently hangs her hat in San Diego, CA.

CLASS BUFFET LUNCHEON PICTURES

During our luncheon a local prospector that lived in the mountains above Layton walked into our room, picked up one of the name badges on the registration table and started through the buffet line. Hal LaBelle challenged him and asked him to identify himself, Sylvia give him the microphone and lo and behold we find out it is one of our Classmates-----

University of Utah College of Social & Behavioral Science 2017 CSBS DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARDS 2017

The University of Utah's College of Social & Behavioral Science (which includes the Political Science Department, from which Caroleen Slotboom Williams earned a B.S. degree in 1960 in three years) honored Caroleen at an annual awards ceremony at the Thomas S. Monson Center in Salt Lake City on September 19th. She was one of four alumni so honored. The program highlighted Caroleen's accomplishments on the international, national and local government stage with the following comments:

For more than 20 years, Caroleen Williams held senior positions in the United States Senate and House of Representatives, including that of chief of staff of congressional committees. She also served as a Foreign Service Officer with the Department of State, earning a Superior Honor Award and a Secretary's Commendation for Outstanding Service.

After moving to San Diego, California, Caroleen directed the government and media relations for high-tech companies, including the San Diego Supercomputer Center, Booz Allen & Hamilton, General Electric and, most recently, Quasar Federal Systems. Caroleen also often represents the U.S. government on short- and long-term assignments with the Organization of Security & Cooperation in Europe (OSCE) in former Communist countries, establishing non-government organizations (NGOs), political parties, and independent media groups. In 2010, she was sent by Freedom House to Egypt where for three months she worked with political activists from Egypt, Tunis and Algeria, helping them develop election monitoring programs in their countries. She is the author of a publication, "How to Influence Public Policy," published with funding by the U.S. agency for International Development (USAID) for use by NGOs in developing countries. Caroleen also served on the San Diego Police Civilian Review Board, the San Diego County Grand Jury, and the Stein Institute for Research on Aging with the University of California, San Diego (UCSD). She recently was appointed to the San Diego Mayor's Board for International Affairs. Caroleen earned a B.S. degree from the University of Utah and a M.A. degree from Stanford University. She is the mother of a son, Scott Griffin Williams, also a graduate of the University of Utah.

Congratulations Caroleen from the Class of 1956. We are going to nominate you for the leading role in the next Wonder Woman movie. Someone commented at our 61st Reunion Buffet Luncheon that you look like you are still in your 30s, did you find the Fountain of Youth on one of your assignments? If yes, please share it with us.
